

PROGRESS IS SLOW UPON KEY BRIDGE

Report Shows That Potomac Span Is But 24 Per Cent Completed.

According to a report made to the War Department by Col. Max C. Tyler, the engineer officer in charge of government projects in this vicinity, the key bridge across the Potomac at Georgetown, designed to replace the antiquated Aqueduct bridge, is about 24 per cent completed, showing that it will not be ready for use for many months to come. The total expenditures to date for land and construction are estimated at $696,395, with $1,000,000 fixed as the limit of cost. Considerable part of the expense was entailed by the purchase or condemnation of land necessary for the approaches at the Georgetown end of the bridge.

The south abutment on the Virginia shore is completed to and including the deck, and the first pier in the river from that side has been built to an elevation 38.5 feet above mean low water. Conflictingly have been constructed and placed for the other three piers, and excavation for the approach piers has been carried to bedrock, ready for placing the concrete. Deliveries are being made of the steel centering for the approach piers, and the work is in progress for the removal of the old buildings on the south side of the street, between 34th and 35th streets, on the site of the proposed north approach.

WALTER REED PATIENTS BENEFIT BY CAMP VISIT

Cuthbert Class Club, Peck Chapel, Entertaining Many Soldiers at Colonial Beach.

A happy party of twenty of the sick and wounded, soldier patients of the Walter Reed Army General Hospital, who had been guests for the past week of the Cuthbert Class Club of the Peck Memorial Chapel, at their summer home at Colonial Beach, Va., known as the Alvin Smith Memorial Home, returned to the city yesterday afternoon much pleased and greatly benefited by their trip.

The Cuthbert Class Club has as its guest each week twenty of the Walter Reed boys. So far this season the club has entertained as guests eighty-three of these boys and will continue to keep open house for them until the close of the summer season.

Each week a new group leaves for the camp under the direction of William Heath Kirkpatrick, and Frank Beach, who have been untiring in their efforts to make the outings a big success. Under their guidance and that of Herman Meyer, chairman of the Cuthbert Class Club, the boys are taken on fishing excursions and moonlight boat rides. The club provides equipment for sports, and there is base ball, golf, crabbing, etc. A piano and victrola are provided for the leisure hours, but best of all are the real home dinners provided by "Mother Meyer," which are most enthusiastically greeted by the real vacation appetites. Improvement displayed in the condition of the men is so marked that request has been made by hospital authorities for the return of some of the patients for a longer period.

These outings are financed by the club with the aid of the War Camp Community Service, which furnishes transportation, and as long as funds are available the outings will continue during the season. It is estimated that $70 per man covers a week's outing, and contributions are very acceptable. Any one desiring to assist the club in providing a week of camping for the boys of Walter Reed Hospital may address the manager, Miss Eugenia A. Cuthbert, Concord apartments, Washington, D. C.

CURATIVE WORK HELPS TUBERCULOUS SOLDIERS

Federal Board Has Established Training Centers in Different Parts of Country.

The Federal Board for Vocational Education has established training centers for tuberculous soldiers in different parts of the country. One of these is at Rutland, Mass. Forty-four ex-service men are taking training at the hospital ward shop. Mechanical, English, book-keeping, shorthand, chemistry and gas engine are among the favorite courses for the convalescents, while diversional occupations are provided for the bed patients. It is interesting to watch the temperature and pulse approach normal when the tuberculous men begin the curative work, and it is more interesting to note the change in their morale and their awakened ambitions.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION BOARD TOPIC

Proposition Is to Be Taken Up at Special Meeting Fixed for September 3.

The question of establishing a junior high school in the public school system of the District will be considered by the board of education at a special meeting on September 3. The Rev. Dr. John Van Schaick, president of the board, issued the call for the meeting before leaving the city last night.

No definite plan has been announced for the junior high school, which it is proposed to create here. In other cities, instead of having a seventh and eighth grade, children go from the sixth grade into a junior high school for three years. Graduates of the junior high school they can still go on to the regular high school for three more years.

In these junior high schools, the work of the seventh and eighth grades are not done away with, but the subjects are divided into departments similar to the regular high schools, with special teachers for certain studies. In this way the pupils can begin at the end of the 6th grade to concentrate on the subjects which they believe will be of greatest value to them in the vocation they plan to follow in life.

Ernest L. Thurston, superintendent of schools, and the high school teachers favor a junior high school. There is no opposition is known to have developed against the idea.

DISTRICT WATER FRONT IS IN BUT LITTLE DEMAND

Recent Proposals Received for Leasing Privileges Are Scarce.

Water fronts controlled by the District are in little demand for commercial purposes, according to report received by the Commissioners today from the wharf committee, of which Daniel E. Garges, chief clerk of the engineering department, is chairman. This is the first annual report on the operations of the past fiscal year to be made by any division of the District government. It contains no suggestions for development of the water front.

Water frontage now leased to private interests is used for wood and lumber yards, marine railways, commercial pleasure craft, and other commercial purposes. Judging by recent proposals received for leasing the water front, there is not much demand for the property, the committee states.

The largest amount of what property under the control of the Commissioners is that along the Washington channel.

EIGHT D. C. MEN DIED SERVING MARINE CORPS

Seven Officers and One Private Succumb in France—One Death Before Overseas Call.

Eight men from the District of Columbia died or were killed in action while serving with the Marine Corps in France, according to an honor roll prepared by Marine Corps headquarters for The Star.

The Star already has printed honor rolls of Washingtonians who died while in the Army and Navy overseas and today completes the roll with the Marine Corps list.

The Navy list printed several weeks ago included those who died in this country as well as on the other side, but the Army and Marine Corps rolls are only of men who gave their lives on foreign soil. The District National Guard had hoped to compile the names of the soldiers who died in this country before they could get to France, but found it would necessitate going through all of the death records of the War Department. It was decided to wait until later on when these records will be arranged better for research work. At present they are not classified according to states.

Marine Corps' Honor Roll.

The Marine Corps' honor roll of the District follows:

Henry P. Torrey, major, 13th Regiment, died of disease September 24, 1918. Address, 1812 California street.

James Keeler, captain, 5th Marines, killed in action October 3, 1918. Address, 702 D street southwest.

Allen M. Sumner, captain, 6th Machine Gun Battalion, killed in action July 19, 1918. Address, 1324 S street.

Lloyd W. Williams, captain, 5th Marines, died of wounds June 11, 1918. Address, 1612 S street.

Henry E. Chandler, first lieutenant, 6th Marines, killed in action October 3, 1918. Address, 745 12th street.

Arthur R. Kinross, first lieutenant, 5th Marines, killed in action June 25, 1918. Address, 47 T street.

Hard Terms

The Germans are disgusted, their blood for weeks has boiled; their fondest hopes are busted, their faith in man is rotten. They say, "Our luck is spoiled; we thought our wartime sins and crimes would be forgotten, if we wore pious grins; we thought our protestations of sorrow and regret would cause the allied nations to wilt, already yet." Instead of which they soak us, demand our stock and store; upon the field they broke us, in peace they break us more. And so the German barters his future for his past; we are the modern martyrs, ach himmel and dogast! We hear the German whining, who swaggared every hour, when on his helm was shining the sun of pomp and power. If he had been the victor, if he had done us brown, doggone his ugly picture, what terms would he lay down? Would he be strong for mercy? He's not that kind of gent; but, swollen up and puffy, he'd take our bottom cent. He'd shoot us full of bullets, and give us grievous hurts, and eat our best spring pullets, and swipe our Sunday shirts. With Germans for our masters, we'd know what hard luck is; envied by disasters, we'd sadly sigh, "Gee whiz!" We hear the German grumbling and beefing at his lot; he thinks the terms are humbling, and all that kind of rot.

SENDS QUESTIONNAIRES ON HIGH COST OF LIVING

Women's Trade Union League Asks for Data From Government Employees.

In connection with the present high cost of living the National Women's Trade Union League has sent out questionnaires to thousands of employees of the government, which will be submitted, when returned, to the reclassification commission to give the commission further data on the salary scale for government workers it is required to recommend.

The questionnaire delves deeply into reasons why the government employees' dollar does not go as far now as it did when prices were appreciably lower. The rate of pay for the work done is asked, as are questions pertaining to outlay of pay, dependents and other income. It is asked that the filled out blanks be returned to the league by August 3, when they will be sent to the secretary of the reclassification commission.
